

North County Cities Ponder Probation Project

By FRANK LA PIERRE
North San Mateo County may soon be the only recipient on the West Coast for a $500,000 federal grant to expand probationary facilities and related correctional services, officials of several North County cities have been told.

Patterned after the Des Moines Replication Project, a project for providing services to persons released under specified conditions as an alternative to incarceration, the local project is offered by the U.S. Department of Justice as a pilot type program.

Jeff Higgins, coordinator of a consolidated police program in San Bruno, Daly City, Pacifica and South San Francisco, has worked on the project for the past five months.

The program has no connection with Higgins' main job of coordinating activities between the four North County police departments.

Some $250,000 is available for the first 18 months of the so-called "Des Moines Project," with pledges by government agencies to fund an additional 12 months for $250,000 more, it was learned.

Mayor William Glang of Millbrae said he thought the project would be a "splendid opportunity to pick up a half million dollars to provide (us) with expert studies" in this field.

He said not to pursue the program "would be stupid."

Daly City City Manager David Rowe explained there are four aspects to the program concerning supervision of persons involved in police cases.

Rowe cited cases of persons released from incarceration on their own recognizance; those released on conditional recognizance; probationary services; and other alternatives to jail.

These services are not now offered in the North County.

In a resolution passed by the North County Council of Cities last Thursday, it was noted that pending establishment of a full service Sheriff's facility in the North, residents of the area should receive the same conveniences and services as those residing in other sections of San Mateo County.

"The Des Moines Replication Project will provide said services in addition to other necessary correctional services without cost to the County of San Mateo or the individual cities therein, based upon a grant from the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice," the resolution noted.

Daly City Councilman William Schumacher, an attorney and former police officer, asked that the Daly City Jail — one of the most modern in the county — be used as a temporary holding jail using the Des Moines fund until a permanent jail is built — perhaps in two or three years.

The federal funds would be used to maintain the Daly City Jail for this added duty, and to pay salaries of persons hired to oversee the program, Schumacher suggested.

His recommendation was accepted by the NCCC members and a request was forwarded to the Board of Supervisors for their support and necessary action in the matter.

Acting Daly City Police Chief Capt. David Hansen said he would support any move to use his jail as an "interim facility."

It was hoped the expanded probationary services could be coupled with a temporary holding facility in Daly City. Such a move would save North County police departments time and manpower.

it was explained.

The Daly City Jail can hold 15 male inmates, two female inmates, two female juveniles and two male juveniles.

Instead of a one-hour drive to Redwood City to incarcerate prisoners, police in the North could use the jail in Daly City — perhaps 15 minutes away, it was explained.

Daly City also has a specially designed police van for transporting prisoners from jail to the courthouse in South San Francisco, Hansen pointed out.

Execution Style

Youths Jailed in Daly City Slaying

Daly City detectives joined in arresting eight Chinese youths over the weekend in connection with the brutal execution of a 15-year-old San Francisco boy.

The bound, bullet-riddled body of Lincoln Louie, a San Francisco high school student, was discovered in an open lot behind a low stone wall about 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Crocker and Bellevue Streets in Daly City.

The road was once used as access to the radio towers atop San Bruno Mountain.

Police said there is a strong possibility the killing of Louie is retaliation for the street murder of Gene Fong, 26, gunned down last week at the corner of Pacific and Stockton Streets in San Francisco.

Witnesses told police two car loads of youths pulled up to Louie at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the corner of Jackson and Stockton Streets and forced him into one of the cars.

These same witnesses furnished police with a description of the vehicle and license number.

It was further believed that Louie was formerly a member of the Joe Fong gang. Sources close to the slain youth, however, dispute this and explain that the Joe Fong gang went out of existence months ago and Louie had never been a member.

The eight youths arrested were reputed to be members of the Wah Ching gang, a rival youth gang, police said.

Daly City detectives Harry Lax and Ed Jensen, in cooperation with San Francisco police, started investigation of the slaying of young Louie immediately after the body was discovered.

Police said Louie's hands had been tied in front and he had been shot five times in the head, neck and right arm with a .32 caliber pistol.

Identity of the body was made through fingerprints, police said.

Tracing the license number given by the witness, police arrested David Yee, 18, of 1487 34th Ave., San Francisco, Saturday night at a Fillmore district supermarket where he worked.

Following Yee's arrest, Jensen and Lax, accompanied by San Francisco inspectors John McKenna and Hobart Nelson, followed a "tip" that led them to a Milpitas apartment house, where, shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday, they arrested five more youths without a struggle.

Included in this arrest sweep was Daniel Yee, 18, of 1418 Leavenworth St., San Francisco, and four boys ranging in age from 16 to 17.

Daniel Yee is no relation to David Yee, the first person arrested, police said.

Inside the apartment, police allegedly found a cache of arms, including two handguns, two rifles and some 300 rounds of ammunition.

Upon returning to San Francisco, police units made two final arrests — one on Nob Hill and the other in Chinatown sections of the city.

In all, two adults and six juveniles were booked into San Francisco jail in connection with the slaying, police said. They would not release names of the juveniles arrested.

JESD Board Sued

The Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District (JESD) has been hit with another law suit, instituted by the district's Personnel Commission, it was learned at a special meeting of the board last Thursday night.

The controversy concerns the legal rights and duties of the board and the commission in regard to authorized expenditures under the commission's budget for the 1974-75 school year.

According to District Supt. Keith Breon, in the past, state law allowed the district to levy an override tax to raise the budget for the Personnel Commission.

He said, "senate bill 90 eliminates this," and the budget is now extracted from the district's general funds.

Breon said the board controls the general funds and commission expenditures must therefore be approved by the trustees.

The commission wants control of its budget and is claiming the board's alleged right of prior approval is illegal.

The board also announced the appointment of Geraldine Vickers as the district's new Central Kitchen Manager.

According to Breon, "she has been acting in this capacity for some time."

She was one of three possible candidates for the position, and was chosen by Nellie True, the new Director of Food Services.

The JESD also lost an employee, Jeanne Kennaugh, chairman of the Personnel Commission, notified George Naslund, director of Classified Personnel, that his services were no longer required, effective April 22, 1974.

The letter to Naslund stated that he is "ineligible to be employed" by the school district. Board members declined to comment.

Crash Kills Hang Glider Enthusiast

Richard Stolte, 24-year-old Oakland rock musician and hang glider enthusiast, died at Mary's Help Hospital Monday some 15 hours after his kite-like device crashed near Thornton Beach in Daly City.

Stolte suffered massive head injuries when his glider went out of control and nose-dived onto the beach after the victim began his flight from the cliffs at Fort Funston about 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Although Stolte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stolte of Oakland, was less than 30 feet off the ground at the time of the mishap, police said he landed on his head.

It was the second fatal crash involving a hang glider — a device where a person hangs onto a horizontal bar and is held in place by a harness — in Daly City this year.

Some four months ago, another young man was killed when strong winds blew his hang glider into some high tension wires in the Palisades area of Daly City.

DC Woman Dies in Collision

A young mother was killed and her child critically injured when their small car collided with a tow truck Sunday on Old Bayshore Blvd. in Brisbane.

Brisbane police officer Bill Morrison said the driver of the truck, William Joseph Lutchman, 49, of 1211 14th Ave., San Francisco was charged with felony manslaughter and drunken driving.

Lutchman received only facial cuts and a broken leg and ankle in the crash that completely demolished both the truck and the car driven by Karen Sojat, 22, 155 Hanover St., Daly City, police said.

Mrs. Sojat was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula Hospital. Her 3½-year-old son, James, is in critical condition with massive head injuries at the same hospital.

Officer Morrison said Lutchman was seen driving erratically through South San Francisco immediately before the crash. He allegedly smashed into a light pole at Grand Ave. while traveling northbound on Old Bayshore Blvd., the officer said.

Parents Threaten Boycott

JESD To Re-Assign Principals

Some Jefferson Elementary School District parents have threatened to keep their children home unless the Board of Trustees reconsiders a decision to re-assign nine of its 20 principals.

A crowd too large to accommodate in regular board chambers — the meeting was changed to the auditorium of a nearby school — chided the administrative transfers last week.

But, the board, 4-0, supported the moves, which Supt. Keith Breon first said were for economy reasons.

"With the closing of Jefferson," Breon said, "I saw the opportunity to do some economizing," he said.

"We looked toward seeing if we could combine some schools, eliminate some administrative positions and still get the job done," Breon said.

Discussion later showed the moves were more than just monetary, with Breon acknowledging the switch of Garden Village, John F. Kennedy and Christopher Columbus principals resulted partly from a conflict of personalities at one of the schools.

Any administrator refusing transfer faces demotion to the classroom, Chairwoman Dorothy Adams said.

Mrs. Adams was the lone dissenter on the board. She abstained because, she said, "The board members tell me I am a minority of one and my opinion doesn't matter."

She said she wanted to hear more public comment.

Action by Breon, who is resigning, was rapped.

"Mr. Breon, we pay your salary and this is the way you repay us," one woman said. "This matter should be made by a permanent superintendent and not by a short-term one."

Breon, in answering pleas for community involvement in the decision, indicated "teachers would not be able to use their individuality in the classroom," if district personnel matters were made by the community.

He said professional persons are better qualified to make such decisions.

None of the speakers from the audience favored the transfers.

The community should be included in the decision, a district resident said.

She added:

"Three (trustees) campaigned that they would be responsive to the community."

She charged the contrary now to be true.

Trustee Beverly Forrester said, "We have people who are stronger in some areas than in others. I would like to share the strong points with all of the children."

The changes:

Storm Drain Extension Ahead of Schedule

The $2 million Garden Valley storm drain extension through Colma is ahead of schedule, Daly City officials were told during a joint meeting with San Mateo County Supervisors in San Mateo last week.

Dedication ceremonies for the final link between Colma Creek and Daly City's section of the multi-million dollar system is now scheduled for mid-May, according to County Engineer Sid Cantwell.

For years the Garden Valley area has been hit with costly flooding.

Last year, Daly City completed its section of the storm drain with revenues raised by levying a special five cent per $100 of assessed valuation on the entire city.

But the county's section was delayed. As a consequence, waters continued to back up in the drain during heavy rainfall.

A strip down the center of El Camino Real — from San Pedro Road to a point where the pipeline turns away from the center strip to Colma Creek will be landscaped as part of the project.

Supervisor Gerald Day, noting that this portion of El Camino Real is controlled by the State Highway Department, questioned whether the county might obtain state funding for the project.

"I doubt it," Cantwell replied.

On the subject of transportation in Daly City and the county, Councilman Vic Kyriakis said his city had applied for Transit Development Aid funds.

These funds to conduct a citywide transit study were expected to be received in July.

Hopefully, Kyriakis noted, the study should be approved in time to make the November ballot.

If San Mateo County voters, at that time, vote to kill the transit district proposal "Daly City could go it alone," Kyriakis ventured.

The parking problem at the Daly City Bay Area Rapid Transit station was discussed during the luncheon.

It was explained by Kyriakis that San Francisco and BART officials were "not keen" on parking at the station. "It wasn't part of their thinking (when they planned the station)," Kyriakis said.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair said "I assume BART is supportive of (this) program (to solve the parking problem)."

Kyriakis responded that he did not think the transit district was overly concerned with the matter.

The Taming of Colma Creek

By FRANK LA PIERRE

Normally a quiet, meandering channel that runs between Daly City and the bay in South San Francisco, Colma Creek in recent years has poured over its banks during heavy rainstorms, flooding vast areas near its mouth and causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

Downstream city officials blamed upstream development for the increased flooding in their area.

Upstream cities, in particular Daly City which found itself the recipient of several substantial lawsuits following the 1972-73 floods, counter that there would probably be no flood damage if planners had not allowed rezoning and development near the mouth of the creek.

Such bickering between various municipalities has gone on for about a dozen years.

And now, after more than a decade of joint meetings on the subject, studies, and planning, the taming of Colma Creek may be at hand.

Deputy San Mateo County engineer Vic Sanders told the Daly City City Council Monday the Colma Creek Flood Control District had reached agreement on various costs for "subzones of benefit."

For example, Daly City would be in the lesser of these "subzones," while South San Francisco would be in the higher cost bracket. (See Page 2, Column 4)

DC Station Owner Guilty of Oil Switch

Leo Wayne Travers, owner of the Serramonte Arco Station in Daly City, April 29 was found guilty of eight misdemeanors stemming from allegations that his station sold reclaimed oil to customers who had ordered name brands.

Prosecutor Margaret Kemp of the San Mateo County District Attorney's Consumer Fraud Division said three undercover tests by state investigators last November showed that oil they purchased was not the name brand they had ordered.

The investigators' cars are equipped with unique tanks which suck and hold the new oil without mixing it with that already in the car. Thus, it can be tested by chemists.

An attendant at the station is expected to stand trial soon on charges of shorting customers on their gasoline purchases, Miss Kemp said.

Sentencing for Travers was set for June 18 by Municipal Court Judge James O. Miller, who found Travers guilty after hearing evidence most of Monday in South San Francisco.

SSF Police Chief Resigns

Salvatore Rosano, South San Francisco police chief for four years, last Wednesday announced his resignation, effective June 1.

He said he was leaving to become police chief of Santa Rosa.

It was more than salary that is causing his move, he explained. (He had recently received a hefty pay increase.)

Santa Rosa, he said, is a chartered city and spells out the role and responsibilities of department heads, as against South San Francisco, a general law city. He added that in charter cities, department heads, for example, cannot be fired by a vote of three councilmen as is the case in South San Francisco.

Santa Rosa, in addition, is larger than South San Francisco (68,000 as against 48,000 residents) and is planning for further growth.

Rosano is highly respected in police circles. He managed to weather a period of turbulent city government, a year ago, with only minor criticism. There was some criticism of him recently in the firing of Police Officer Keith Fazackerley, and a protracted period of salary negotiations with the Police Officers Association.

He is currently campaigning for a new $4½ million public safety complex. He said he did not feel his resignation would hurt the campaign.

The Taming of Colma Creek

One of the obstacles in reaching agreement on the rebuilding project was how much money each city along the creek would have to pay. Tighter federal funding of such projects dictates that local cities foot the cost, Sanders said.

For more than four years the Army Corps of Engineers has looked at the creek, but nothing has been done to correct the flooding, Mayor McRobert Stewart said.

If the cities wait for the Corps of Engineers to do the project it probably would not be completed until the mid-eighties, it was understood.

Following the heavy flooding in July, 1973, the County Board of Supervisors held hearings to determine if there was support for a locally-funded project.

The Board of Supervisors determined there was support for the plans — if a bond measure could not pass in the area and if the Federal Government did not fund the project.

In November, the bond issue for some $12.6 million is expected to be put before voters in the North County.

If it fails to pass, the project will be cutback to about $8 million. This cutback will necessitate curtailing some improvements along the creek.

To generate this amount of revenue, the five principal cities and county have agreed to provide some $4 million over the next four years, according to the county engineer's office.

"The creek must be built, sooner or later," Sanders said.

Daly City's share will be $720,000; San Bruno $472,000; Colma $56,000; Pacifica $4,000; San Mateo County $100,000, and South San Francisco $2,648,000.

A public meeting on the matter will be held May 28 before the Board of Supervisors in Redwood City.

District Election of Supervisors Wins Backing

The North County Council of Cities Thursday threw its support behind the county initiative to elect county supervisors by district and to expand the board to seven members.

It was the second group of elected county officials to back the measure in recent days.

Last month, the County Council of Mayors voted to have the issue placed before the public on the November ballot.

Attorney Fred Lyon spoke on district election of supervisors, pointing out that supervisors would be more receptive to their constituents if they were elected by districts.

"I am not saying they (the supervisors) are not doing a good job. I'm saying if they are not overworked they are not doing a good job," Lyon said.

Congressman Leo Ryan, attending the meet in Daly City's Serramonte Center, said he also supported increasing the number of supervisorial seats "because the supervisors are now pulled in too many directions at once."

There are only three counties in the state that still elect by the at-large system, Lyon said.

The cost of running a supervisorial election (between $50,000-$70,000) is cheaper than campaigning for congress in San Mateo County, Lyon said.

If the supervisors were elected by district they would not only be more "available" to the public because of the smaller population involved in each district, but the post would come within the financial reach of more persons, Lyon said.

Petitions are now being circulated throughout the county to have the issue placed on the general election ballot in November. The reason for this is "so it won't become a political issue" in the June 4 supervisorial race, Lyons explained.

Proposed boundary lines for the expanded seven member board have been drawn so as not to gerrymander any supervisor out of office, it was explained.

South San Francisco Mayor Terry Mirri asked about the possibility of "ward politics" entering into district elections.

He was told by Lyon that the definition of ward politics usually meant rewards.

This "reward" could also be applied to large contributions to a candidate's campaign under the at-large system.

"I am convinced that if supervisors had to worry (about their own district) they would vote more (measures) for the North County because then they would have to answer to voters in this area," San Bruno Councilman George Corey said.

San Bruno Mayor Tony Governale said "The fact that we now have five member boards doesn't make five member boards right."

A supervisor would have to "get one more vote" under a seven member board, Governale said.

"Five is not the number any more," he said.

The Pacifica City Council voted 3-2 for the measure, Mayor Aubrey Lumley noted.

Lumley offered a substitute motion, asking the North County Council of Cities to take the same action that the Council of Mayors had taken previously — endorsing the inclusion of the issue on the November ballot.

The substitute motion died for lack of a second.

Former Councilman R. David Martin, informed the group the primary reason for formation of the North County Council of Cities was to bring equal representation to the north from the Board of Supervisors.

Martin agreed that the supervisors, because of their numerous roles on various agencies around the state, were being overlooked and it was time for the Board to increase its members.

The consolidation of courts and establishment of a North County service center was discussed by Supervisor Bob St. Clair.

St. Clair said he has been working on getting such a center in one of the north county cities "for some time."

The supervisor asked for support on his concept from the NCCC and said highest priority should be given to a "holding facility" for persons arrested in the North County.

The proposal for a North County holding facility, with support services, is not new, it was explained.

For several years, officials in the North County cities have been insisting such a facility be built.

In most North County cities, at the present time, a police officer must escort his prisoner to Redwood City — a trip requiring about two hours — for incarceration pending trial.

The exception to this is Daly City, which has a modern jail facility capable of holding some two dozen persons.

Colma Creek Flood Control Hearing

A public hearing has been scheduled by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to determine if the county and several North County cities should proceed with a proposed $11 million plan for the control of floods on Colma Creek.

The hearing will be held May 28, at 11 a.m. before the board at the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

County Engineer S. H. Cantwell, Jr. said the ultimate plan, if approved, would provide flood control from the biggest storm which could be expected once every 50 years.

Cantwell noted that to finance the project it will require approval of voters in the Colma Creek Flood Control Zone to sell general obligation bonds.

If a bond issue fails, he said, it is proposed that an abbreviated project improving "selected reaches" of the Colma Creek channel be implemented at a cost of $6 million to $8 million.

The funding for the smaller project would be derived from advances from the concerned entities, and the balance derived from tax revenues and areas in the flood control zone on the basis of benefit.

Included in the project would be the county and the cities of Daly City, South San Francisco, Colma, San Bruno and Pacifica.

The county and cities decided last year to take over development of the flood control project after a federal program advocated by the Army Corps of Engineers failed to materialize.

A Question of Funding

JESD To Change Boundaries

In an attempt to avoid possible cutbacks in federal funding, the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees voted unanimously to maintain its position on recent school boundary changes May 1.

According to administrative assistant Vinton Stratton, the Office of Civil Rights has warned the JESD to correct its ethnic imbalances or face possible forfeiture of badly needed federal money.

He said the federal government presently supports the district's $167,000 compensatory education program and its $46,000-50,000 Title 7 bilingual program.

Stratton indicated that these funds will be greatly endangered if the district does not make a strong attempt to comply with government orders.

"It would be disastrous to all of our federally funded projects," he said. "We could stand to lose the funds completely if we do not show solid progress."

"There may be no federal funds if we do not deal with this now," he said.

The dual purpose of the board's action, to stabilize boundaries, made John Daly Boulevard the southernmost line for Woodrow Wilson School.

This boundary change will necessitate busing about 125 students, including 68 compensatory education children, according to Stratton.

Parents suggested leaving the compensatory education children at Wilson and busing other children instead, but Chairwoman Dorothy Adams indicated such action may be illegal.

"I don't think the federal or state agencies would allow us to leave the compensatory education children there," she said.

"It would be discriminatory. We would be segregating," she said.

John Belforte, principal at Woodrow Wilson School, explained that the parents are "only asking that the children who are permanently in the program, who have been identified and who have improved, should be allowed to stay in the compensatory education program."

Parents expressed fear that their children will regress if they are taken out of the special education program.

District Supt. Keith Breon indicated, however, that the other schools will be notified "and will probably structure their programs accordingly."

"These schools are not going to turn their backs on these new children and will be willing to assist them," he said.

Breon speculated that "they may get better instruction because there is not as great a concentration of students" in the schools that will absorb the Wilson students.

The board was asked if the student transfers will be made regardless of public opinion.

Mrs. Adams answered that "the decision was made last December."

"The board has the authority to change that decision because they are the ones who made it," one resident said.

Breon said the district may be eligible for nearly $700,000 in federal funds, but only if the boundary changes are made permanent and the ethnic balance is corrected.

"If we want this assistance, we must comply," Breon said.

TN Senior Ball

"The Best is Yet to Come," the theme for this year's Terra Nova Senior Ball, was held at Crystal Springs Golf and Country Club, April 26.

Crowned King and Queen for the evening were Steve Barr and Nancy Whitbeck. Joni Fraga and Sue Pelly were voted Princesses and their Princes were Steve Kenny and Fred Decker.

The Queen was presented a spring bouquet of flowers, while the rest of the Royal Court received trophies.

Pat Mickel, directors of Student Activities, was awarded a pot of flowers by the Senior Class in appreciation of her work for them.

Southwood Newspaper Awarded

South San Francisco's Southwood Junior High School paper, "The Brave," received the highest rating ever achieved in the history of Southwood's newspaper.

A first class rating was awarded to the paper by two national journalistic organizations, the National Scholastic Press Association (N.S.P.A.) and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association (C.S.P.A.). N.S.P.A. is located at the University of Minnesota, School of Journalism and C.S.P.A. is on the campus of Columbia University in the City of New York.

The N.S.P.A. judge gave the paper a Mark of Distinction in writing and editing. A Mark of Distinction is the top rating a paper can receive in a particular area of scholastic journalism. The overall rating of the paper totaled 4 excellents, 11 very goods and 6 goods.

Any total over 3,000 points qualifies a paper for a first class rating. The Brave received 3,140 points. As the N.S.P.A. judge stated: "Your writing is clear, concise and well attributed to your sources—a nice job!"

Pacifican Hurt in Accident

Rev. Lee Warford, well-known Pacifica pastor, was reported last week to be improving, at a Reno hospital, where he is recovering from injuries suffered April 30 in a motorcycle accident.

He is pastor of Bethel Church of Pacifica, and is active in Pacifica civic affairs, including the Police Reserves and the Kiwanis Club.

He was reported to have lost control of his motorcycle on a curve on Highway 70 near Quincy, and slid over an embankment, falling 50 feet onto rocks near the Feather River.

Raymond Paden, 155 Natuqua, Pacifica, a cycling companion, was not with Warford at the time of the accident. His absence, however, worried Paden, who called the Highway Patrol. After 3 1/2 hours of searching, Warford was found semi-conscious and nearly frozen, with his bike in water.

Warford was initially reported to have been in critical condition, from head wounds.

Wednesday, the Kiwanis Club considered cancelling the prayer breakfast, which Warford had scheduled for the Muffin Mine this morning. The club, however, decided it was important to hold the meeting and went ahead with plans.

No Support For Ban on Fireworks

A move to ban all fireworks in the county went over with less than a bang at Thursday's meeting of the North County Council of Cities.

Pacific County Councilman Stan Farber proposed the NCCC support his contention that fireworks be outlawed and that only experts be allowed to handle fireworks' displays.

Farber, noting "there is no such thing as safe and sane fireworks," told the group he had seen many disfigured children over the years as a result of playing with fireworks.

Farber, a Pacifica pharmacist, said many children had come into his store with fingers blown off and faces scarred from mishandling of these explosives.

But his proposal was opposed by other officials who felt the matter should be taken up at the State level, rather than at a city level.

The NCCC membership, by voice vote, moved to shelve the issue for further study.

County Victim Of Zebra Told

A newspaper reporter for the North County Industrial City Publishing Co. has been reported as one of the San Francisco "Zebra" victims, according to a list of names made public by Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Mrs. Quita Hague was murdered Oct. 20, 1973, when she and her husband, Richard, were kidnaped from in front of their San Francisco home.

Her nearly decapitated body was found at another location in the city. Her husband, who survived the attack, was found wandering in a daze with his hands tied behind his back, police said.

What Happened When Taxes Ended

Many have inquired why this column has considered Somorra at such length, failing to give any account of Godom, its sister city. They charge bias, claiming that as the failures of Somorra largely rose from rampant permissiveness and liberalism, this column has chosen to chronicle its history, while ignoring that of Godom, whose excesses and shortcomings were just as gross, but were the result of conservatism run wild.

The writer apologizes, for the charge, up to this time, is true. By way of justification, it must be explained that full reliance has been placed upon the research of Professor Humidor and his team of historians and archaeologists. Their work in Atlantis proceeded slowly, and Godom, deep in the south of the lost continent, was discovered long after Somorra had been unearthed.

Superficially considered, the two cities have interesting similarities. Both were walled. Both were fearful of outside ideas, and by the end, the people of both cities were illiterate. Somorra's jails were empty, and so, interestingly, were Godom's. Both had experienced difficult labor histories, and each had been consumed by political foolishness.

How, one might inquire, did these legendary cities reach the same sorry state when their policies and politics were such opposites? Puffing clues of ill smelling smoke, Professor Humidor answered the question. "The two cities were really quite similar, though neither would have recognized this fact during their existence. Their likeness was founded upon insistence of both communities to put unworkable and foolish concepts into practice. That one literally opened the floodgates for sewage from the left, and the other from the right makes little difference historically. The important lesson is that political philosophy must be tempered with good judgment. This quality was totally lacking in both places."

His wise words are sustained by the facts. We remember that Somorra's drowning resulted from prolonged labor troubles, and a final paralyzing strike. Godom followed a different route to the same end.

Two ideas were responsible. Both rose in the form of amendments to the city charter. News of increasing labor strife in Somorra had frightened the business community in Godom. Although labor relations had been workable during all of Godom's history, this fear led to action, and the action took form as a charter amendment bearing the clever title "Right to Sweat."

Using the best public relations techniques, a campaign was waged to ban the right to strike. As the workers of Godom were repelled by the thought that the right to good, honest sweat might be denied them, the proposition carried successfully at the polls. From that time on, the men of Godom worked for ever lower wages.

The other idea also resulted in a change in the charter. For years, the most conservative Godomites had rallied against taxes. After the success of "Right to Sweat", another step was attempted. This time, a "Freedom Amendment", the purpose of which was to liberate Godom from all taxes, was proposed. The concept was attractive, as the cost of governing Godom had steadily increased over the years, and taxes of all kinds had become a difficult burden. This charter amendment also passed, and with it, came the certain end of Godom.

In a short time, the treasury was bare. Unable to meet the city payroll, the government of Godom turned to the private sector to help in conduct of public services. But, alas, business also was crippled. Protected from strikes, management had steadily reduced wages and working conditions. With inadequate funds to maintain themselves, the workers, who had successfully supported their "right to sweat," gradually weakened and left their jobs. By the time public services had broken down from lack of revenue, there were no remaining workmen available.

It was then that the tribune of Godom began his final efforts to save the city. Like the tribune of Somorra, he walked to work in boots. He, too, was found atop his desk, mouth open, caught for centuries as he proclaimed his last words: "No pointy-headed liberals are going to ruin our fair city. We know our principles are right, and we will stand...ugh!"

Behind him stood a marble wall. Emblazoned there were these words: "God created the heaven and earth, property and people. IN THAT ORDER."

Students Don't Have to Travel for Job Interviews

South San Francisco High School students ready for jobs don't have to travel from business to business, filling out forms and seeking interviews.

Businessmen will be coming to them this month.

The city's two high schools will be hosting employers from throughout the Peninsula during Recruitment Days, May 14, 16 and 22. Carefully-screened students will be interviewed by personnel officers in 15-minute intervals.

May 14 and 16 are for office occupations, and the 22nd is for trade and industrial occupations.

Last year, according to Margaret Purcell, business coordinator for the South San Francisco Unified School District, over 1,500 appointments were made over the two schools.

"By June, we placed every single student who had a skill to offer."

For the past 11 years, she said, local firms have been coming to this event "to secure qualified entry workers."

Local Students Win Honors

San Mateo County high school students ran away with scholarship awards presented by the Bank of America during its 27th annual Achievement Awards program Thursday night at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

Of the 30 finalists who competed for a total of $13,500 in prizes, 12 are San Mateo County students.

They were selected on the basis of their academic achievements and community services.

A total of 93 high schools from Palo Alto to Santa Rosa participated in the competition.

First place of $1,000 prizes went to Elizabeth Thomson, San Carlos High School student in San Carlos, and David Kaplan, Serramonte High School in Daly City.

Second place of $750 scholarships went to Julie Wulf, Mills High School, Millbrae.

All four third-place awards of $500 each went to local students: Michele Bresso, El Camino High School, South San Francisco; Kenneth Johnson, San Carlos High School, Scott Rutherford, Woodside Priory School, Portola Valley, and Linda Gorin, San Mateo High School, San Mateo.

Runnersup with $250 in awards: Robert Kamin, Hillsdale High School, San Mateo; Ann Edminster, Terra Nova High School, Pacifica; Michael Phillips, Mills High School; Nina Berglund, Westmoor High

U.S. Gives Pacifica Nike Land

Federal officials last week presented the City of Pacifica a certificate of transfer for 36 acres of former Nike base property for park land.

The land was declared surplus last year. It is located along the Sharp Park Road, between San Bruno and Sharp Park Road Viewpoint.

The ceremony took place in the municipal facility's council chamber. It included a presentation of colors by the U.S. Army Honor Guard, and music by the Oceana High School Band.

Featured speaker Russell W. Peterson, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, flew in from Washington, D.C., to make the presentation.

He told the group of civic leaders about President Nixon's Legacy of Park program which he began after walking on the Onifree Beach one sunny day and finding his wife and himself the only ones on the beach. He described the subsequent program of making federal-ly-owned land available for parks and open space.

Also taking part in the program were Frank E. Sylvester, regional director, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, and master of ceremonies Thomas E. Hannon, regional administrator, General Services Administration. They were welcomed by Mayor Aubrey M. Lumley III.

The presentation was preceded by a tour of the land, a rolling, brush and grass covered hillside and canyon site with spectacular views of the Pacific Coast. Pacifica has a three-year $5,000 program to develop the site for passive recreation — with picnic sites and bicycle trails. For the first two years, as many trees as possible will be planted on the land.

TOP STUDENT — David Kaplan, senior at Serramonte High School in Daly City, receives cash award following judging May 2, in Bank of America's 1974 Achievement Awards finals at the San Francisco Hilton. David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaplan of Daly City received $1,000 for finishing first in the Fine Arts study field. Presenting check is Bank of America Executive Vice President Joe Carrera.

Housewife Robbed of Valuables

A South San Francisco housewife was robbed at gunpoint of over $2,000 in valuables by two men and a young woman who forced their way into her home.

Police said Kathleen Louise Kokezas, 656 Joaquin Ave., answered a doorbell, and a young woman asked to use her telephone. Two male companions followed her into the house, and one took out a gun.

"We want the money. Don't make any noise," he ordered, "or I will kill you."

The trio took $1,750 in travelers checks, $360 in currency and various pieces of jewelry.

The robbers were described as white, 18 to 20 years of age. One youth had blond, wavy shoulder length hair, of slender build, six feet tall and with blue dress shirt. The second had dark brown shoulder-length hair, was slightly built, 5-10 with long sideburns and a thin mustache, was olive complexioned and wore a brown jacket.

The woman had fair skin, was of slender build, 5-5 to 5-7 feet tall, wore a light colored scarf, and a three-quarter length brown leather coat with a belt.

3 Injured In Crash

Three persons are being treated for injuries as a result of a collision on Coast Highway in Pacifica Wednesday night.

Driver John Morales Aviles, 40, of 131 Harbor Way, El Granada, is in critical condition at Mary's Help Hospital where he is being treated for multiple fractures.

Two passengers, Andrew Bautista, 9, and Alex Bautista, 7, are in Kaiser Hospital being treated for lesser injuries.

According to Pacifica Police, John James Crook, 19, of 60 Carmel Drive, Pacifica, was driving northbound on Coast Highway through the Fairway Park area when an unidentified orange pickup pulled out in front of him. Crook swerved into the opposite lane and collided with Aviles' small car which was destroyed in the crash.

The Treasury To Open in SSF

South San Francisco will be the site of one of J. C. Penney's new The Treasury outlets, according to a recent announcement from Donald V. Seibert, vice president and director of corporate planning and development.

The firm announced that six The Treasury stores will be located in the Bay Area as soon as leasing arrangements are completed, and are now targeted for opening in spring of 1975. The six stores will average more than 140,000 gross square feet of space each.

Seibert noted that the San Francisco Bay Area has ranked high on the company's priorities list of possible markets for the introduction of The Treasury stores. To facilitate the entry of these stores into the Bay Area, he said that Penney is completing negotiations for lease arrangements on six existing store buildings. Locations of the buildings, Seibert added, closely fit the optimum market penetration plan envisioned.

The Penney company operates The Treasury stores in major metropolitan markets along with full line J. C. Penney stores. There are 19 Penney stores in the San Francisco Bay Area, including seven full line units.

Three Dallas openings are planned for later in fiscal 1974. The Dallas and Bay Area openings will bring to 37 the total of The Treasury stores.

Other The Treasury units will be located in Fremont, Pleasant Hill, San Jose, San Leandro and Sunnyvale.

You have to get up early to get ahead of today's young people, and that is just exactly what Girl Scout leaders in Daly City did today!

Training for Day Camp leaders got underway early this morning at Gellert Park in Daly City's Serramonte district. Today's session is the first of two workshops established by the district to help the leadership "keep a step or two ahead of the girls" when it comes to scouting skills. The second session will be held in the same locale one week from today beginning at 10 a.m. and lasting until 2 p.m.

Most of scouting's leaders are quick to extol the virtues of the program, for adults as well as girls, and Mrs. James Morino is anxious to meet someone, maybe a grandmother or grandfather, who would enjoy getting in on the fun of scouting.

Mrs. Morino reports that there are six "charming little Brownies" who will be ready for junior scouting in September and they are most hopeful that someone will come forward and volunteer to be their leader.

Anyone willing to donate only a few hours per week to help these girls have a happy scouting experience is asked to call Mrs. Morino and learn more about the program and the training available for prospective volunteers. Mrs. Morino may be reached at 992-4327.

MEMBERS OF the Rotary Club and their ladies will enjoy their annual "Ladies Day Luncheon" today, according to plans worked out by social chairman Hal Tonini.

The Rotary Anns will be wine and dine at the California Golf and Country Club.

MRS. EDNA LAUREL CALHAN, past president of the Fifty Plus Club has been named chairwoman of the entertainment committee for the San Mateo County Senior Forum meeting Saturday.

The forum will be meeting in the Pacific Manor School beginning at 9:30 a.m. The morning will be a business session with a program of entertainment to follow lunch. The Pacifica group is hosting this gathering. The regular morning meeting of the Fifty Plus club will be held May 14 at 10 a.m.

MEMBERS OF the San Francisco Alumnae chapter, Alpha Iota sorority, will have their annual Mother-Daughter luncheon Saturday, at Smorga Bob's in the El Portal Shopping Center in San Pablo.

Mrs. James Bardine is the reservations chairwoman and tickets for the party are $3 per person.

Mrs. Barbara Wolowicz is the chairwoman of the traditional pre-Mother's Day event.

MAY 17 AND 18 have been proclaimed Book Fair Days by Daly City's Mayor McRobert Stewart as a part of the city's support for the Friends of the Library book fair in the Westlake Mall on those two days.

Mrs. Denise Schwarzbach and Mrs. Ruth Giammona have been leading the volunteers in last minute efforts to sort and price all the books and records that will be offered for sale during the two day festival.

THE FUCHSIA BALL, for years now one of this area's most elegant traditional benefits, will be held this week end in the California East-West Room of the St. Francis Hotel.

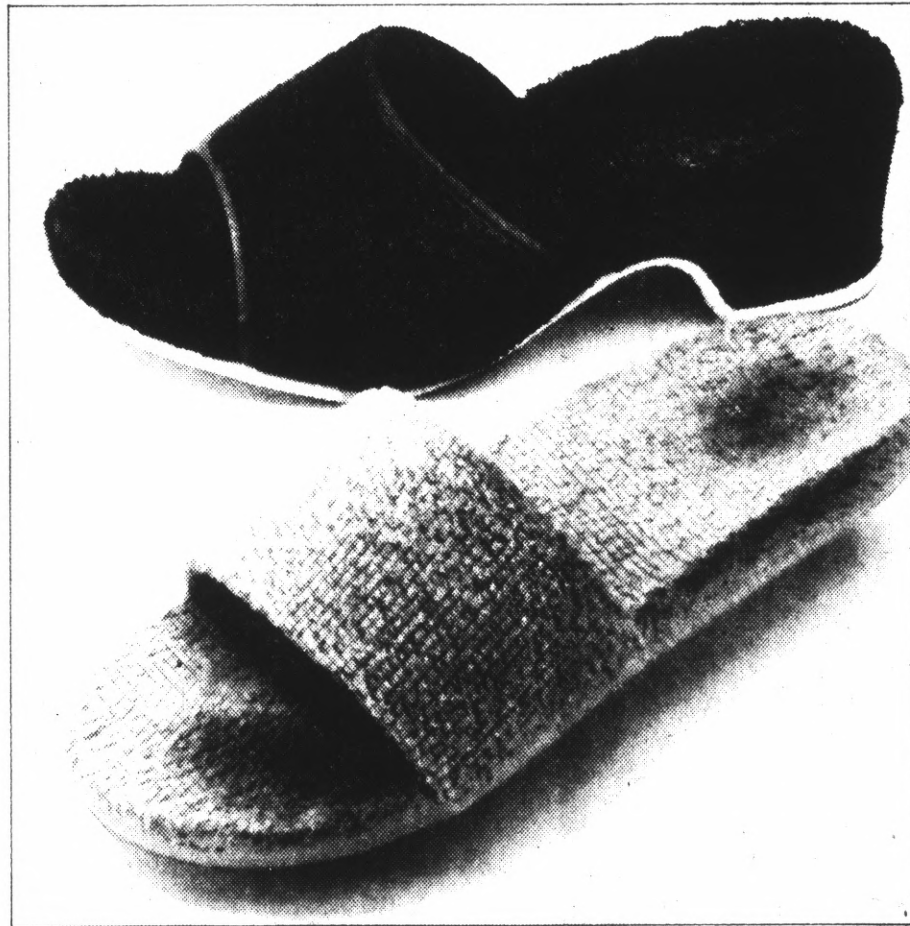

Mrs. Nanda Stewart is the general chairwoman, and Mrs. Bunny Lycett is the cochairwoman with fund raising effort staged by the Mary's Help Hospital Guild. Mrs. Helen Corbett, 731-0314, is in charge of reservations and will be happy to provide information to anyone who calls her.

No host cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., and dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m. Dancing until 1 a.m. will be to the music of the Al Borelli orchestra.

To help carry out the fuchsia theme of the ball localite Norman Grunke has been caring for some very special plants and, by dent of his magic touch, those fuchsias will be in blazing blooming glory on Saturday and ball guests will be able to enjoy living centerpieces fashioned from the blossoms he has induced to bloom for this occasion.

SHADES OF DOROTHY Lamour! The members of the congregation of St. Andrew's will be donning sarongs, mums and Hawaiian shirts for the "Return to Paradise" dinner dance May 18.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Some recipes are so good that they bear repeating. This next recipe fits into that category. Mrs. Mary Sherer who lives in Daly City gave me this one in 1969 and after printing it I received many favorable comments about it. Recently a reader called and said she had lost the recipe and wondered if I could print it again. Gladly.

MANICOTTI

- 2 boxes manicotti
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 pound ground round
- 1 teaspoon parsley
- 1 (10-oz.) package frozen chopped spinach, thawed or one small bunch young spinach, chopped
- 2 eggs
- 2 Tablespoons bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese

Brown the clove garlic in a tablespoon oil along with the chopped onion and one pound ground beef. Add the teaspoon parsley, the thawed chopped spinach, two eggs, two tablespoons bread crumbs and one-fourth cup Parmesan cheese. Toss lightly together.

Fill the uncooked shells with the meat and spinach mixture. Arrange filled shells in a single layer in a 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Completely cover manicotti with meatless sauce. Cover baking dish with aluminum foil and bake for one hour in 350-degree oven.

SAUCE

- 1/2 medium onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1 large can tomatoes, sieved (No. 2 1/2 can)
- 8 ounces tomato sauce
- 1 6-oz. can tomato paste
- 1 cup water
- 2 teaspoons parsley
- 2 teaspoons Italian spices
- A pinch of oregano
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

In large skillet, saute the chopped onion and the clove garlic, minced, in three tablespoons olive oil. Rub the tomatoes through a sieve. (This takes a bit of time, but is necessary for a smooth sauce.) Add the tomatoes to the sauteed onion and garlic. Stir in the one can each tomato sauce and paste. Add the one cup water. Blend in the two teaspoons parsley, two teaspoons Italian spices, pinch of oregano, two teaspoons salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Simmer over low heat for one hour.

This recipe has many things to recommend it. Besides it's delicious taste, it can be made ahead and refrigerated until time to bake.

Note that you used uncooked manicotti, very easy to handle and arrange in the pan. Be sure to bake it covered so the manicotti will soak up the moisture and cook completely.

MRS. JAN RIZZO, honorary chairwoman, and Kenneth J. ## Daly City's Gary Tessler To Become Bar Mitzvah

"The Scholar's Festival" is the sermon topic selected by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards for the Sabbath Service to be held May 10 at Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City. The service will begin at 8:30 p.m., and Cantor Jacob Graudenz will chant the liturgy. An Oneg Shabbat will follow.

Sabbath Services will continue on Saturday at 10 a.m. also conducted by Rabbi Edwards and Cantor Graudenz. The service will witness the Bar Mitzvah of Gary Tessler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Tessler. Gary, who has reached maturity in the eyes of the synagogue, can take his place as an adult member of the congregation. He will participate in the service, read blessings and prayers, and chant the Haftorah, an accompanying work to the Torah Reading. The Haftorah for this Sabbath is Book of Ezekiel, Chapter 44.

Marking this special day in his life, Gary will be presented with his own Tallit (prayer shawl) by his parents, a Certificate of Bar Mitzvah by Rabbi Edwards, a Prayer Book of his own by the congregation's president, A. Arthur Hirschhorn, a ritual Kiddush Cup by the Sisterhood and a Prayer Book will be presented to the congregation in Gary's honor by a representative of the Men's Club and the USY Chalutzim Chapter.

Rabbi Edwards has selected "Hallowing the Name of God" as his sermon title.

INDIAN ART

"Indian art, what does it mean? Does it have a history? Give us a book about it." O.K. The Indian Art Association, in cooperation with the Walker Art Center of the Minneapolis Institute of Art has published an oversize but beautiful book entitled "American Indian Art — Form and Tradition."

From this book we learn that there are themes that are common to the tribes regardless of their geographical homes. Among such themes are poetic images of tribal family life, and expressions of religious rituals and of relationships with the supernatural.

We learn that the American Indian found in his woodland world the "rhythms of life." He saw the rhythms in "the drone of mosquitoes and the thump of partridge, in the sprigs of white pine in the nests of eagles, in the ice cracks running the frozen lakes, in the voices of bears, in the avian dreams of crane and loons, eagles and crows and in the visions of hands and eyes."

Into their pottery and weaving, music and painting, the American Indians wove their "thought rhythms of visions and dreams and of timeless patterns of sacred forms; of seeing and knowing the energy of life."

The beaded tipi decorations of the Cheyenne captured thoughts of "peace, war, hunting, courtship, art and music." Of these the authors write that "to this day seemingly ordinary items . . . are properly made only after certain ceremonies have been performed. The decorations themselves carry spiritual blessings for those who live or camp in the tipi."

IN "THE ART of the American Indians" we are led to recognize that the mystical and mysterious designs that men painted on their shields were utilitarian in that they served a specific purpose. We are forced to admire the designs and imagine that they delighted the artists and let them feel the pleasures of esthetic creativity.

It may seem hard to imagine that the Hopi woman who sat in the dust and fashioned pottery was feeling the kind of emotions that were known to Michelangelo, or that the Sioux warrior who sang as he danced before a tribal fire was tasting the same thrill of creativity that Shakespeare had known. Yet it is true. As with all men art is the product of feeling. Thus with Indian objects and poetry and song, as with those of other men, "only objects of paramount importance, generally associated with high spiritual values can be regarded as art; secular and utilitarian objects produced by slow, repetitive progress such as weaving, are classified as crafts or lesser arts."

"American Indian Art" is filled with pictures of objects that have been on display in the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. It is dedicated to all American Indian people. It honors a living culture whose timeless and profound artistic tradition speaks to all of us.

Two-Lane Bypass Of Devil's Slide?

If San Mateo County cannot expect financing for a four-lane bypass of Devil's Slide for five or six years, can it obtain priority for at least a two-lane road?

Jean Fassler, chairwoman of the County Board of Supervisors, asked County Manager M. D. Tarshes to investigate that possibility April 30.

Mrs. Fassler suggested that if the county agreed to a two-lane highway to bypass the area of Devil's Slide on Cabrillo Highway which is frequently closed several times a year because of slides and a sinking roadway that perhaps the state would move up the project in priority so it could be funded.

Tarshes said he would ask the state if such a minimal project is feasible.

A State Department of Transportation official informed the Board of Supervisors last week that funding for construction of a four-lane bypass cannot be expected until late 1979 or early 1980.

In another highway matter, Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald wants the board to consider the possibility of adopting a resolution asking the State Legislature to authorize the use of unmarked highway patrol cars in enforcing the 55-miles-an-hour speed limit on state freeways.

On a recent trip to the east, Fitzgerald reported, he learned that use of unmarked patrol cars had resulted in a "fantastic" decrease in traffic accidents and fatalities.

Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson held out little hope that use of unmarked patrol cars would ever be authorized in California. He noted that several attempts to authorize use of radar by the CHP had been rejected by the legislature.

"I believe it's on the basis that it would be taking away the last sporting chance of motorists," Sorenson stated.

"It's a good idea," he added, "but the chances are slim."

Fitzgerald said he had suggested the idea because not only would accident injuries and deaths be cut down, but there would be a lowering of hospital costs for treatment of injury victims and of court costs for traffic cases because drivers would be more likely to obey the law if they were aware they were subject to scrutiny from unmarked patrol vehicles.

Visiting facilities at San Francisco's county jail near San Bruno were called "appalling" and a contributing factor in breaking up families of inmates, the Bar Association charged in a report released May 1.

A special committee of the Bar Association asked that the San Francisco Board of Supervisors allocate funds to rebuild the jail's visiting room and for visitors' transportation to the facility.

Because of its out-of-the-way location, families of inmates experience difficulty in visiting the jail, according to Kurt W. Melchoir, chairman of the special committee.

Melchoir and San Francisco Sheriff Richard Hongisto agree that efforts to rehabilitate the men incarcerated at the 35-year-old jail are being hampered by lack of adequate transportation and visiting facilities.

The report suggested a Municipal Railway bus charter service be instituted. Fares would be nominal for wives and children wanting to visit their husbands.

It was estimated the round trip which currently takes about two hours by bus and taxi for a half-hour meeting, would cost only 50 cents per person — sufficient to pay for the charter bus, the report said.

Melchoir said his committee travelled to the San Bruno jail Feb. 16 to see firsthand conditions at the facility, accompanied by Under Sheriff Charles Smith.

"Upon arriving at the jail we were informed by Sheriff Smith that under normal circumstances we would be compelled to park our automobile at the gate, some 600 yards from the jail.

"At the gate, one signs up and is given a place on the visitor's list for a 20 minute visiting period," the report noted.

There are many times a visitor, after traveling to the jail, cannot get in to visit, Hongisto said.

Once inside the visitor must shout over a heavy reinforced glass partition. For children, it is impossible to communicate with their parent-inmate, it was explained.

Last month, Sheriff Hongisto bared plans for a $100,000 addition to the jail to serve as a visiting center and to be built primarily with donations.

That plan is still underway, Hongisto said, however, he and Melchoir feel it is the city's duty to pay the costs.

Melchoir charged that San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto "is not doing his duty" in providing an adequate facility for the jailed men and women in San Bruno.

"(Mayor) Alioto keeps saying the city is broke, but he found $1 million for the Yerba Buena sports complex," Hongisto said.

Unforeseen Income for Pacifica

City Manager Dave Thompson had some good news and some bad news last week for Pacifica.

Unforeseen increases in the city's assessed valuation will provide income for the city, he advised the Pacifica City Council Wednesday night. The bad news is that the "extra" income will be paid largely by homeowners whose assessed valuations are being raised by as much as 25 per cent.

Thompson previously had presented to the council a proposed budget that appeared to be balanced, but in effect was not.

It provided for a general fund reserve of only $5,833, which Thompson admitted was not nearly enough to take care of even minor emergencies, let alone the normal cash flow. In addition, it provided for cutting down on services, particularly in planning, and park and building maintenance.

Most critical, however, is the complete lack of any provision for salary increases for city employees, who are currently negotiating with Thompson. Any salary increase would have to be granted at the expense of cutting out some city service, councilmen had previously agreed — and then asking the voters if they wanted to pay the increased tax necessary to restore the service.

Now, it appears that such a vote might not have to be taken.

Thompson told councilmen that the budget was made up on the assumption that increased valuation would rise only two per cent, due to the lack of building in Pacifica for the last year. This is the figure, he said, that he had obtained from County Assessor Jack Estes when Thompson began making out the budget.

Just hours before Wednesday's meeting, however, Thompson learned a special reassessment of many Pacifica areas had resulted in an increase of about 11 per cent. The figures were still tentative, he stressed. The new valuation would result in additional income of $225,000 to $275,000 for the city.

Several councilmen urged keeping the proposed budget the same, and adding the new money to the reserve.

PREP NO-HITTER

Day Wins NPL Duel

Major league scouts continue eyeballing Terra Nova High lefthander Steve Shirley, but now they have a new North Peninsula League player to watch: Westmoor's Harold Day.

Shirley was up to his usual few-hit tactics Friday as he limited Westmoor to two hits while striking out 12 and walking only two batters.

A fine job. But Day, a righthanded curveball artist, did him one better.

Day tossed a no-hitter as the Rams won 1-0. Westmoor shortstop Rob Baptista and centerfielder Cory Price saved Day's perfect with five great defensive plays. Day fanned five and walked two.

Serramonte's one-week losing string stretched to four games Friday when Jefferson, on the strength of Dale Edelman's three-hitter and Marty Ross' three-for-three performance, won 3-0. Ross raised his average to .525.

Serramonte, 4-3 before the week began, fell to 4-7 in the North Peninsula League despite Mark Shaffer's five-hitter. Four errors hurt the Regents.

The NPL shutout trend continued at Oceana, as South San Francisco's Dennis Collier pitched and hit his club to a 5-0 victory. Collier fanned eight and also hit a three-run homer in the seventh.

South City broke a scoreless deadlock in the fifth when Gordon Miller doubled, moved to third on an infield out and Rich Fanti bunted him home on a two-strike pitch.

Also Friday, El Camino topped Half Moon Bay 9-5.

NFL Rules

Those new football rules won't eliminate place kickers, but they'll probably drive their salaries down. And because place kickers will no longer be quite so valuable, there might not be as many coaches willing to take up a precious roster place with such a specialist. They may start requiring place kickers to be able to do something else, which is something we advocated in this column months ago. As we said, losing the game on a field goal to a football player — a fullback or even a second string quarterback or center — who can also kick, would make a loss less bitter than losing to a former soccer player who doesn't even work out with the team.

MEANWHILE, back at the baseball diamond. We don't care what the experts say, we still think the National League West will be up for grabs among the Dodgers, the Giants, and the Astros and the Reds.

As we write this, the Giants, Reds and Astros are grouped virtually together only a few games behind the Dodgers. Since more experts picked the Reds and the Astros to win the division than picked the Dodgers, we'd say that the Giants, even though they have disappointed many fans, are in pretty good company. They're as good as the predicted contenders.

And don't forget. The Dodgers are winning three of every four games. No team has even been that good over a full season. The Dodgers have been that good mainly because they're hitting much better than they have a right to — especially the homerun, which just isn't normally their game.

In the meantime, the Giants have hung in there with the big contenders even though they have yet to field what during spring training was considered to be their regular lineup, and were better than three weeks into the season before their best pitcher, the National League's only 20 game winner last year, was able to pitch an inning.

Also consider that in the series they took in Los Angeles, they were playing with their third or fourth string first baseman (Dave Kingman), their second string second baseman (Mike Phillips), and their third or fourth string (depending on availability of other infielders; third baseman, Steve Ontiveros. When Rick Miller took over for Phillips late in that series, the Giants were then playing with their third string second baseman.

How many teams would have been able to "hang in" without the planned-for services of a 24-game winner, without a 3.00 hitting first baseman, and without one of the best all around second basemen in baseball? As we said a few weeks ago, the Giants have depth and versatility, and if they ever get their injuries squared away (with all the muscle-tone problems, can they be out of shape?), they will be very, very tough.

ONE OTHER THING which has possibly hurt the Giant offense is the absence from the lineup of Willie McCovey. Even when Big Mac wasn't hitting (as he isn't in San Diego), he presented a threat. He made opposing pitchers and managers nervous, and they pitched around him and switched strategy and sometimes got careless with what they considered to be lesser hitters.

On the other hand, Mike Caldwell, for whom the Giants traded McCovey, will probably prove ultimately more valuable, and we hope that is true, because Giant management has been too often unfairly criticized for its trades and sales. Think, for example, about the clearing out of the three Big M's (McCovey, Willie Mays and Juan Marichal). Caldwell is thus far the Giants' most able starter. Charlie Williams, who came for Mays, has been looking

Padres Take WCAL Crown

Gus DeGara's swimmers from Serra High tucked away their eleventh consecutive WCAL swimming championship Saturday, making DeGara's stay at Serra a perfect eleven out of eleven record.

The Padres won the WCAL finals (DeGara's last, as this will be his final year at Serra) winding up with 131 points, bettering second place Bellarmine's 95.

Led by Matt Sullivan and Jon Powell, the Padres took eight gold medals, the other two going to Bellarmine's Tom Nicolayson.

Sullivan won the 200 free and the 100 back (1:48.8, 55.8). Powell set meet records in the 50 free and the 100 fly (21.9 and 53.7). Chris Butler won a gold in the 100 free (46.3), while John Elwood upset the field by taking first in the 100 breast (1:05.8).

The final two golds came in the relays as Serra's Dan Morris and Tim Mascheroni teamed up with Powell and Butler to win the 200 medley relay. Mike Rhinehart, Don Thornhill and Tom Wilson combined with Powell for a gold medal in the 400 free relay (3:19.8).

All that remains now are CCS finals, to be held next Friday and Saturday at De Anza High School.

Injuries Hurt Skyline Trojan's Bid for CNC Championship

By FRED BAER
Post Correspondent

Skyline College crowned champions in four individual events but crippling injuries to two state leaders caused the Trojans to fall short of their goal of a second straight conference track championship at Salinas.

Fresh Ike Allmond won both hurdle races in conference record times (14.4, 54.2), while another Trojan freshman, Tony Fotinos, took the mile with a record 4:15.3, sprinting a final 61 second lap to catch favored Daryl Fitzgerald (4:15.5) of Cabrillo.

Bryan Clark grabbed the pole vault title for the Trojans with a 13-1 leap, beating Hartnell's Dave Garibay on fewer misses. Menlo's Pete McMurren gave San Mateo County dominance of individual events by winning the high jump with a record 6-8. Host Hartnell, utilizing tremendous field event depth, won the Coast Conference championship for a fantastic eighth straight time, rolling up 164 points to 133 for Monterey and 93 for favored Skyline. Menlo was sixth with 14.

The Trojans were champions in the Camino Norte last year before switching leagues this season and have gone unbeaten in dual meets for two seasons.

Skyline had to compete Saturday without Bart

Pierce, Camino Norte high hurdle champ last year, and Jim Wyatt, third in the state in the intermediate hurdles last year. Both men had the best legitimate times in the state in their specialties as of last week and will be seeded into today's Northern California Trials at Modesto on an injury clause.

"With them we would have won by seven or eight points," figured Trojan coach Bob Lualhati. Pierce was also considered the league's top sprinter (at 9.8) and Lualhati had counted on Skyline triumphs in the 100, 220 and both relays plus quite a few more points in both hurdles.

Two Trojans did bounce back from injuries. Long jump co-favorite Mike Gilmore (23-3 1/4 best) managed a fifth at 21-6 on a weak leg as three Trojans placed, with Steve Bule the best — in third at 22-1 1/4. Three-miler John McVeigh showed little effect of a stress fracture in his foot which had sidelined him until mid-season, taking third with a creditable 14:51.8.

Fotinos, a St. Ignatius grad, was quite impressive — coming back from his mile victory to place third in the 880 in 1:58.7 and then run a 51.6 leg in Wyatt's place on the mile relay as Skyline placed second in 3:24.2 to Monterey (3:22.6).

Allmond was the only double record setter in the meet, obliterating the old Coast hurdle marks of 15.0 and 56.4. He took 1.3 seconds off his previous best in the intermediates to win by nearly a second over Hartnell roman James Thompson (55.1) — who accounted for 30 points in four events.

Tom Swartzell was Mr. Versatile for Skyline, as usual, placing fourth in both the shot and javelin and sixth in both hurdles.

Only other double winner in the meet was Hartnell weightman Bill Victorino (shot and discus), as the Panthers rolled-up 66 points in three weight events. There were meet record performances in ten of the 18 meet events.

League Track Titles To Mills, Oceana

Finishing with an appropriate flourish, Mills and Oceana high schools nailed down track championships and unbeaten league seasons with a group of fine performances Thursday.

Oceana and Westmoor both had 6-0 NPL marks before Wednesday's meet but Oceana spikers came through with four school records and a big 91-45 win for the dual meet championship.

Mills, led by brothers Ken and Steve Vasquez, finished a 6-0 MPL season with an 87-50 win over Capuchino. In other MPL meets, San Mateo beat Burlingame 83-53 and Aragon topped Hillsdale 75-61.

Trials for the MPL and NPL league meets were yesterday, the NPL at Skyline and MPL at College of San Mateo.

Oceana started off with a 43.8 clocking in the 440 relay. It was a school record and the fourth best time recorded this season in the Central Coast Section.

Whitney Jacobs, who ran on the relay team, followed with a school record 9.9 (wind-aided) in the 100.

Shark shot putter Gerrit Schram, who's been throwing over 50 feet all season, threw a school record 54-9 1/4. Steve Broadway set another Oceana mark with a 42-2 triple jump. Bill LaForge, the CCS' leading miler, had an excellent double — 1:57.2 in the 880 and a "leisurely" 4:27.4 in the mile.

Mills' best performance came from 5-10 sophomore Ken Vasquez, who long jumped 23-1 1/2, the best CCS mark this season. He also finished second in the 100, while brother Steve, a junior, took impressive wins in the 440 (51.9) and the 880 (1:58.5). Bill Gavina won both hurdles races.

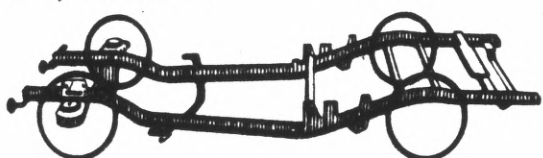

Several San Mateo spikers were ailing. Andy Gustavson was under the weather but still managed wins on both horizontal jumps. Burlingame got wins in both hurdles races from Bart Shepardson.

Whitney Jacobs, who ran on the relay team, followed better and better, and Juan Marichal — a big cash deal — has been getting blasted in Boston.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST surprises at a recent journalism conference for high school students at Skyline College, according to professional newsmen conducting panels, was the virtually unanimous put-down by the teenagers of Milt Kahn, the late, unlamented KPIX "sportscaster."

Kahn had been popping off that he didn't care what old fogey newsmen and middle-aged sports fans thought of him, because he was drawing his real support from the young, who want to have it "told like it is." As with all of Kahn's claims, it was apparently a phony. "These kids are a lot more sophisticated, have much better taste than we imagined," said an old pro.

All of which leads us to another surprise which came out of that conference. About 75 per cent of the students attending the sports panels were girls. Most of them seemed genuinely interested, surprisingly knowledgeable and — and we know now we'll hear from the feminists — wonderfully attractive. Apparently no Tom-Boys in the crowd.

Getting back to Kahn. For the last time, we hope. A very ironic — and interesting — thing happened when San Francisco Magazine hit the streets with a story about Kahn by Terry McDonnell on the very day Miltie was fired.

You'll understand what we mean about irony when you read the following excerpts:

(Direct quote from Kahn): "I had a plan to become the number one television personality in the nation. In May, 1972, I figured that it would take me two years."

(Quote from KPIX station manager George Resing): "Sure, he (Kahn) has some mechanical problems, but any non-professional would. He'll settle in, and I can tell you that we're going to give him every opportunity... he'll probably be here at least until summer."

And finally, when reporter McDonnell asked him, as he was on his way to interview Seal hockey players, why he had made no notes or studied preparation for the interviews, he replied, "I've got a 170 IQ and if I can't ask interesting questions off the top of my head, then I've got no business doing this."

ON THE SUBJECT of announcers: The new Giants' broadcast duo of Al Michaels and Art Eckman get mixed reviews here.

Michaels is bright, sharp, knowledgeable, not afraid to criticize, accurate, in short, very competent. But compared to Lon Simmons he's not very entertaining. When the Giants were out of a game with Simmons at the mike, he could at least take a listener's mind away from it for a while with his good humor.

Eckman is an unimaginative interviewer, and his play-by-play is dull and careless.

Colt Netters Blank CSM

Canada College's tennis team, showing the stuff its No. 1 State ranking is made of, blanked College of San Mateo 9-0 Monday in NorCal championship action.

The contest was to decide team representation in the State tournament. Individuals from both teams are qualifying in separate conference championships. Canada is the Camino Norte Conference Champ; CSM was the Golden Gate Conference titlist.

Canada took all singles matches in straight sets.

Close Race for DC Recreation League Lead

Two weeks have been completed in the Boys Baseball League sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division and each grade level is marked by a close race for the league lead.

St. Andrews shut out St. Thomas More 16-0 and Chris Toohey collected two triples and six 6 RBI's as he led the Scots to victory.

The PAL Datsun Hustlers outcasted the Carriage House to claim a 10-6 win. Robert Avila pitched brilliantly for five straight innings allowing only one of the six runs scored by the Carriage House.

The PAL Eagles edged the Holy Angels Green Devils 5-4 in eight innings. Shon Spence went three for three and Len Chiechi drove in John Sanders with the winning run for the Eagles. Darryl Jones pitched very effective relief to claim the win.

In other action, the PAL Colts rode to an easy 14-3 win over the OLM Yankees.

In the Seventh Grade Western Division, Dave Maxion hit a three-run homer to lead the LBVA Athletics to a 7-1 win over the PAL Cardinals. Hunts, behind the excellent relief pitching of Alan Banks, came from behind to down the SAL All Stars 13-8. In other action, the OLM Hawks defeated St. Andrews Scots 9-1 to hold on to first place.

In the Seventh Grade Eastern Division, the hitting of Rob Walsh and defense of Marty Severeid enabled the St. Thomas More Saints to down the St. Andrews Blues 16-5. In an intra-parish game, the OLPH Cubs clawed the OLPH Eagles 13-3. LBVA cooled off their bats considerably by still managing to outduel the PAL Tigers 8-6.

In the Sixth Grade Western, in games during the week, Troy Williams and Greg Zatkoff sparked the PAL Tigers to a 10-6 victory over Holy Angels and their standout catcher Glen Nolan. Sal Vaccaro and Joey Trombino combined to throw a shutout as LBVA defeated the PAL Giants 13-0. SAL Pirates, also endowed with pitchers such as Lario and Bigham shut out the St. Andrews Scots 7-0.

In the final game of the week, the OLM Giants defeated the SAL Pirates 7-2. Clutch pitching from Greg Latus and defensive gems by Larry Chiarella and Kevin Griffen helped secure their first win of the new season.

In the Sixth Grade Eastern, the PAL Indians, led by the pitching of Smith and Santoro and the hitting of Oroquita, Rodriguez and Sangervasi downed PAL Eagles 11-3 who were sparked by Liston's three hits.

In other games, LBVA squeaked by the St. Andrews Scots 15-14, the Saints bagged the Marsupials 12-11 and the Irish put the Astros in orbit 15-9.

In the Fifth Grade Eastern, the SAL Superstars claimed their first victory of the young season by edging the Holy Angels Rock 5-3.

Ben Franklin Hotel's Erwin and Max Best

Erwin and Max Best are brothers who have devoted their lives to the hotel business. Their father was in the hotel management field before them and ran establishments on the East Coast, in Los Angeles, Bakersfield and other places around the country, teaching his sons every phase of the business.

The Best brothers decided years ago they would work together and they have remained true to their word, owning and operating the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in downtown San Mateo for the past 27 years without interruption. Periodically, the Benjamin Franklin (located at 44 East Third Avenue) has undergone renovations and refurbishings. Four years ago, for example, the Bests installed color TV sets in all the 110 rooms and suites, and converted all phones to direct dialing.

Now, however, Erwin and Max have taken a giant step and remodeled many of the facilities at this landmark hotel. "But in no way," points out Max, "have we changed any of our traditions. We are to San Mateo what the St. Francis Hotel is to San Francisco. And we intend to maintain our reputation."

Take the Willow Room, under the direction of Chef Tom Delano and his charming wife Doris, the hostess, (formerly the Greenwillow Room), the hotel's main dining room. Colonial house wallpaper gives the dining area a quaint, charming overtone, and booths have been installed. The waitresses are now smartly dressed in new costumes and give the room a cheery look. The Willow Room, incidentally, is open for breakfast, lunch, dinner and cocktails from 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. daily.

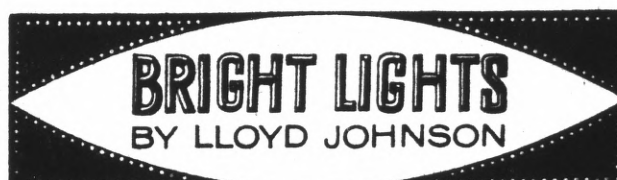

GARDEN SURROUNDINGS — Murray Lehr and glamorous movie star Karen Lindsey are enjoying her favorite dish, Armanino Pesto Salad, at Lehr's Greenhouse restaurant in San Francisco.

Shirt Tail Plans "Main Event" Dinner

Mother's Day is the "main event" at the Palo Alto Shirt Tail restaurant next Sunday, May 12. Owner Adrian Stickney has a special dinner planned (served from 4 p.m.) that will delight one and all. Entertainment tip: Catch Standing Room Only, the group currently appearing in the plush lounge of the new Golden Gateway Holiday Inn, on Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco. Seldom will you see a group with more dynamism, charisma and explosive talent. They specialize in hits from Broadway musicals, in three shows nightly, Wednesdays through Sundays. No cover, no minimum. If you're looking for "super" organ entertainment, drop by Shakey's in Burlingame any Friday or Saturday night. Mary Bate is the talented gal presiding at the Conn Theater Pipe Organ, and she's a whiz. Reuben's, a prestigious restaurant conveniently located near major Peninsula business and residential centers, yet set back among a grove of oak trees in the hills of San Mateo, is now taking reservations for Mother's Day Brunch, which will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.; dinners from 4 p.m. Rocco is the group providing the nightly dance sounds in the lounge. An elegant red decor and simulated candlelight will set the mood for dramatic views of the Bay through large picture windows.

Make Reservations Now for Mother's Day

As you well know, Mother's Day is Sunday, May 12, and being one of the busiest days of the year, it's Bright Lights' suggestion that you make early plans. If you're taking the family to breakfast before or after church, consider the Villa Coffee House, where round-the-clock service is available. Located in the Villa Hotel, with ample parking on either side of the hotel, you step into a bright and cheerful atmosphere in which to enjoy early-day favorites. Donut World, located on the lower level of Tanforan Park Shopping Center, in San Bruno, is a haven for shoppers where a great variety of freshly prepared donuts are features. Plain donuts or fancy, filled donuts (custard, apple, blueberry) or cinnamon rolls, chocolate, and maple bars, all can be enjoyed at Donut World, one of nine great restaurants under one roof. As a special for the next few days, Manager Kathy Carlson is offering a money-saving bargain on cherry donuts — 99 cents per dozen. This offer is good through Saturday, May 11 only. "Big Al" (she's a petite 115 pounds) is preparing for a sell-out crowd on Mother's Day at the Showboat, a floating restaurant anchored bayside in Burlingame. One of the Peninsula's only female chefs, "Big Al" is catering to mothers on her day by baking special homemade muffins and featuring an entree selection which will include hame, prime rib of beef, and chicken (made from "Big Al's" own southern recipe). Although the Showboat normally serves Sunday brunch from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Mother's Day will be an exception. Dinner only will be served this Sunday from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. For cocktails and dancing, the Showboat Trio will entertain in the lounge from 3 p.m. Manager Ken Fuller advocates making reservations now.

Orchids for the Ladies at the Skylark

From Friday, May 10, through Sunday, May 12 (Mother's Day), Chef Ray Lim of the Skylark will gift all his lady diners, mothers or not, with orchids from Hawaii. Which means an extra amount of pampering is given the fair sex at this 37th Avenue restaurant, where Chinese and American cuisine is a specialty. A special menu feature on Mother's Day will be Prime Ribs of Beef (served complete for $4.75), plus Ray Lim's super Chinese dinner, a $2.80 feature which includes six different items plus dessert and tea. Dinner served from 3 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Mother's Day. And don't forget those very "Happy Hours" (4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.) on week days when house drinks are only 50 cents. Nick Gust's three Rockaway Beach restaurants, Nick's, The Moonraker and Captain Charles, are just 20 minutes from downtown San Mateo, via a scenic "over-the-hill" trek. Early reservations are suggested if your Mother's Day plans include breakfast, lunch or dinner at this Pacifica pleasure spot. If you have a passion for cheese like your Bright Lighter, then give note to the "Le Plateau de Fromages" (the tray of cheese) selection on the La Bonne Auberge menu. Brie, Roquefort, Camembert, and Chevre are all perfect dinner follow-ups.

Phil Lehr's Handy For Theater Crowd

Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco is a convenient dinner stop for folks catching the C.L.O. production of "Good News" at the Curran Theater. There's ample parking at the Carriage Entrance, and the Curran is just a short, pleasant stroll from the Steakery. Headin' for South Lake Tahoe over Mother's Day? Contact the Park Avenue Tours office nearest you and take advantage of their bonus Drive-up package. When you reach your Nevada destination, the refunds are generous and the excitement rewarding. Rather go by bus? No problem. Park Avenue Tours offers overnights, via Greyhound Bus, with accommodations in a deluxe motel and big bonuses from Sahara Tahoe. Departures Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Also Las Vegas and Reno packages. The Peninsula number to call is 345-0488. You'll find restaurant tycoon Vince Licata at the helm of his Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant overseeing the professional crew of chefs, waitresses, bartenders, and special greeters. It's no easy matter keeping quality and quantity at top standards and at moderate prices these days. But you are assured of all this at Vince's luncheon and dinner mecca for particular diners. For fresh seafood to prepare for the home table, visit the Fish Depot next door. Not open on Mother's Day.

FINOCCHIO'S LEAD DANCER — Estuardo Mora is the glamorous lead dancer of the Eve-ettes, a colorful and talented chorus line at Finocchio's, where four complete reviews are presented nightly. The world's most talented female impersonators are presented in a variety of songs, dances and comedy at this famous San Francisco nightclub.

Scotty Campbell's Is Family Affair

If you go for the traditional presented with a contemporary flair, then you owe it to yourself to join the countless numbers who enjoy dinner at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. You'll be impressed with the warmth of hospitality extended by Mary Lou Fox, Richard Trainor and Helen Trainor, who are really sincere in seeing that your evening is in every way a dining pleasure. The menu is selective and entrees are served as dinners or a la carte. Mother will love this charming restaurant on Mother's Day. And what could be more convenient if you're taking her to Circle Star Theater following dinner. Stonebird, a band that would rather be on stage performing, doing their own unique "thing" than be anywhere else in the world, entertain the Tuesday-through-Saturday night crowds at Whiskey Hill in downtown Burlingame. Their versatility is apparent in the music and also in their vocal performance. In concert on Sunday, May 12, will be Cism. Put your dancing skills to the test by joining the Wednesday night dance contests. Owner Peter Brallier presents the winners with cash prizes.

Enrico Romano Enjoys His Kitchen Duties

In addition to knowing his way around a kitchen, Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, is a racing car enthusiast and sportsman. When not busily occupied with preparing his special Italian sauces and pizza concoctions (and there are numerous varieties in small, medium and extra large sizes), the popular pizza purveyor enjoys the many sports activities which take place all over the Bay Area. Ron Erickson, owner of the charming Marmite restaurant, is one busy executive. Besides overseeing a dandy luncheon and now dinner operation, Ron owns and operates a thriving bakery business. No wonder the bread and pastries taste so delicious at his Redwood City restaurant. For that intimate French restaurant most diners are searching for, try Michael Janicka's Le Parisien, on Broadway in Burlingame. The decor, atmosphere and cuisine are all quite extraordinary. You'll be impressed with the list of prominent Peninsula who dine here regularly. By popular demand, Joe De Dio, general manager of the Marine World Holiday Inn in Belmont, initiated the service of daily luncheons in the Ivory Coast Lounge. The menu will be the same as offered in the Gold Coast dining room, with prices ranging beginning at $1.85.

Food Compliments Due House of Troy Boss

Accolades to Sal Campagna, owner of the House of Troy, whose demands for good food and excellent service are unwavering. Specialty of the house on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Holidays (attention, Mothers) is Prime Rib, which is served with a relish dish, soup, salad, a demi-loaf of homemade bread, baked potato, coffee and dessert. Quite a gathering was on hand at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel, last week. Besides the normal flow of business, General Manager Dave Purrington hosted the Western Winter Sports Representatives Association, whose members were there to view the latest in ski equipment, boots and fashions. All told, it was "Market Week" for nearly 1,500 persons a day, with visitors arriving from nearly all of the western states. "A special menu will be in effect on Mother's Day at the New Southern restaurant," said co-owner Julio Donati. An entree choice of turkey, ham or chicken (and this includes both soup and salad) will be offered for $5.50. The menu will also include Roast Duckling, Chicken Livers, Broiled New York Steak and Prime Rib. Early reservations are suggested.

Hyatt on Union Square Entertainment Variety

Reservations advisable. Don't miss the host of fine entertainers appearing this season at John Ascuaga's Nugget, made easily accessible through California-Nevada Golden Tours service. Giant bonus excursions leave Ed's Smoke Shop in San Carlos. Call 591-6266 for information and reservations.

$5 BILLION STRONG

In troubled times...and calm ones...savers have discovered there's no place quite like Home. Since 1889, Home Savings has meant perfect safety for hard-earned income—through wars, depressions, recessions, and countless periods of stress and uncertainty.

Today, this kind of safety and assurance is more precious than ever. It's also more rewarding...with higher interest available to savers, starting with 5¼% Passbook Accounts (more than any bank on similar accounts) and moving on up to 7½% term accounts, with interest on all accounts compounded daily for faster growth. Add to this Home's many valuable free services, and Home's great strength of $5 billion in assets—and it's no secret why so many savers have decided that the best place of all to be...is Home.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

For all the excitement generated about the debut of the San Francisco Dinner Theater within the vast auditorium of the former Kabuki Theater in the Japan Cultural Center, "Kiss Me, Kate," which opened the season this week, isn't any better than the sketchy musical versions we had at Circle Star Theater and not as good as those intimate stagings with dinner included that failed to catch on at the Garden Court of the Sheraton-Palace Hotel years ago.

The idea has appeal, but it seems impossible to put all the necessary elements — production, food and service — together on an equal level. Opening night was a sit-down catered charity affair, but patrons henceforth will partake of a buffet. On that score, both food and service were above reproach. But the show failed to live up to expectations when it came to production values.

John Raitt, as handsome as ever, was in fine voice although his vocal power is at the sacrifice of full, round tones. He sounds fine and has kept his body in excellent shape so it was a pleasure to welcome him back to the city of so many of his triumphs on the musical stage.

It is the concept of the popular musical fashioned around Shakespeare's last comedy, "Taming Of The Shrew," that smacks of cabaret, mini-musical, trimmed of all artistry and meant to look big and expensive on a stage too large to effect the illusion. There's a lot of vitality in the small company and director Stuart Bishop has kept them moving around a lot to make the stage look more full and busy. But a chorus of 12 is pathetically lost even if each performer dances off and comes on backwards in reflected image.

And maybe because the theater is so vast and spacious, he felt it necessary to lambast his audience with exaggeration and corny caricatures. What we got was ham and what I'd have preferred is heart.

Gayle Byrne does her fiery darndest to make the obstinate Kate come alive. But she's surrounded by nincompoops who appear off on a totally different style tangent. None of her songs holds a spark of romance or real sentiment. Even in duet with Raitt, they strive to be heard and articulate, fighting to overcome a poor sound system to the detriment of the show's lovely melodies.

Sets are colorful but minimal costumes are bright thanks to designer Jeffrey Moss's resourcefulness. But there is a terrible lack of choreography and visual dance unity despite Paul de Rolf getting credit. Some of the kids dance and the others only move.

Jeff Parker does a showy tap routine to "Too Darn Hot" and that was the sole measure of notable and noticeable dancing the whole evening.

Elaine Pepparde as Bianca mimics and screeches to distraction and Zale Kessler and Ken Waller as the gangster comics ("Brush Up On Your Shakespeare") took a tedious turn with their Three Stooges burlesque approach.

If hearing the Cole Porter score and experiencing a nostalgic flutter at the sight of that unchallenged musical stalwart, Raitt, is enough for you, the new venture that producer Donald Cox hopes to make a permanent event, should suffice.

As a novelty attraction, it might catch on. As a rival to Civic Light Opera or any of the major musical tours from or to Broadway, it's a lightweight opponent.

Supervisor Candidates' Statements

Although they are not now legally required because of a State Supreme Court order, statements of financial interest have been filed by the four candidates seeking election to the Board of Supervisors in the June 4 primary election.

Tuesday was the deadline for filing of such statements with County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church on a voluntary basis.

Non-incumbents in legislative races have filed the statements, Church said, because the law required non-office holders to do so in conjunction in filing of nomination papers prior to the court order staying the filing of financial statements.

Church stated that a final decision on the filing of financial statements is expected from the court in June or July.

Supervisor Gerald F. Day, who is seeking re-election to the Third District seat on the Board of Supervisors, voluntarily filed a statement of financial interest Monday.

He lists investments, in addition to his salary and his Belmont home, of 35 shares of Lone Star Industries, Inc., Greenwich, Conn., a building materials firm, value not exceeding $10,000; a $460 savings account in the San Mateo County Employees Credit Union, and a $252 savings account at the Wells Fargo Bank, Redwood City.

Also, the incumbent lists debts of a $4,446 auto and personal loan from the credit Union, and a $31,400 home mortgage loan from the Wells Fargo Bank, Hillsdale branch.

Day's opponent, Edward J. Bacciocco Jr., reports an account with the Bank of America not exceeding $10,000, as his only financial interest outside of his salary as a political scientist and researcher at the Hoover Institute, Stanford University, and his Woodside home.

John M. Ward, who is seeking election against incumbent Robert St. Clair in the Second Supervisorial District, lists his financial interests, outside of his San Mateo home and salary as a school teacher, as a lot in Calaveras County with a value not exceeding $10,000, and a property settlement exceeding $1,000 under terms of a dissolution of marriage.

St. Clair, who filed his statement voluntarily just 10 minutes before the deadline Tuesday, reported investments in St. Clair's Liquors, San Francisco, with value exceeding $10,000, ownership of stock, with a value not exceeding $10,000 in the National Real Estate Fund, San Rafael, and ownership of the building at 3902 24th St., San Francisco, where his liquor store is located. Value of the building exceeds $10,000, according to the statement.

The financial interest law exempts candidates from listing income from employment or management positions, from office in any government agency or non-profit organization, and of the candidate's residence.

Shift in Payments

A Decrease in the County Budget

By BOB HEMINGWAY

A proposed San Mateo County budget of $139,667,608 for 1974, reflecting "probably the first decrease in the total budget since at least the end of World War II," was submitted to the Board of Supervisors by County Manager M. D. Tarshes.

However, the decrease is illusory because of a shift in payments to welfare to recipients from the county to the federal government.

What has occurred, the county manager said, is that welfare funding for aid to the aged, the blind and the disabled, is the amount of $11.5 million, is now being done directly by the federal government through the Social Security Administration.

Although the federal government paid the bulk of such welfare costs in the past, the payments were made through county government and had to be carried as a part of the county budget.

The proposed budget, as submitted by Tarshes, is $1,787,699 below the 1973-74 figure of $141,455,307.

However, Tarshes points out, the amount which will have to be paid by the amount assessed against property tax in the county has increased by $2.3 million, for a total of $52,012,585.

In his message to the board, Tarshes said that the decrease in the budget would be even larger if it were not for the effect of inflationary cost increases.

"At this point," the county manager reported, "it is not possible to accurately predict whether the net county cost increase can be financed with the current $1.97 (per $100 of assessed valuation) property tax rate."

TARSHES NOTED that some $6 million in salary increases are included in the budget, but that they include last year raises which were allocated from contingency reserves and salary savings (not appointing to fill vacancies), but not designated to specific departments.

Also, he reported, the county social security contribution will increase from $1.6 million this year to $2.3 million next fiscal year.

The inflation factor has added up to about $3.4 million increase in services and supplied ranging from a 19.1 per cent increase in food costs to 84.8 per cent for purchase of gasoline.

Also, Tarshes said, reapportionments for parks and open space and capital improvement programs carried over from the current year total more than $6 million.

On the other hand, appropriation decreases include the deletion of a total of 51 permanent positions (mainly through the change from county to federal administration of welfare assistance).

Tarshes estimated that the county will receive some $4 million in federal revenue sharing funds, as compared with $4.8 million for the current year.

HE RECOMMENDED, however, that the revenue sharing income replace sales tax funds for the financing of land acquisitions and that general fund income, raised by property taxes, be used to replace the $1.4 million which was allocated this year from revenue sharing funds to make the equivalent of 10 cents on the tax rate for park and open space acquisition and development.

The county manager also noted that there may be the necessity of adjusting appropriations during the June budget hearings to finance any increased costs in changes to the country's health care system.

The board of Supervisors is scheduled to begin hearings this week on the proposal to institute a decentralized health care plan for the county's indigent residents.

However, the proposed budget anticipates the continued operation of Chope Community Hospital and its outpatient facilities "as in the calendar year of 1973."

Tarshes said he intends to submit some supplemental budget recommendations during the budget hearings. One of these will be a proposal for an allocation of $50,000 to develop a water resource master plan (required by a newly-enacted state law) to develop an independent water source for the county exclusive of San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy supply line.

THE BIGGEST departmental increase recommended in the budget is just over $1.1 million (to $9.7 million) for the sheriff's office and proposes the addition of 21 personnel to add a second full-time beat of the south county area (exclusive of East Palo Alto and the towns of Woodside and Por-tola Valley, the latter two served by contract with the county).

The sheriff's office additional staff would include, in addition to deputies, clerks, a booking clerk at the jail and community relations specialists for East Palo Alto.

Proposed as an economy measure is the consolidation of the cooking facilities for the county jail in the Hall of Justice and the Work-Furlough Facility in Redwood City at the latter location.

Pacifica Townhouse Development

Planners Deny Full Scale Impact Study

The negative impact of a proposed townhouse development at Hickey Boulevard and Beachview Avenue were deemed insufficient to warrant a full-scale study of the area by the Pacifica Planning Commission Monday night.

A 6-0 vote approved the request for one of three negative environmental impact declarations.

According to Planning Administrator Jim Miller, the proposed project involves 64 townhouses, garages, private road and driveways, recreation facilities and open space on 10 acres of land.

Commissioner Bradford Pringle indicated that, because of the comparatively small scale of the project, significant noise, air or water pollution is not anticipated.

He said that these adverse effects "can be controlled with careful construction and geological study, which will be a requirement" for approval of actual construction.

Objections to the project were voiced by Fred Howard, president of the Fairmont Homeowners' Association.

He indicated an Environmental Impact Report is necessary to show the detrimental effects of such a project, and pointed out three possible problems.

Howard said the existing traffic problems at Hickey and Skyline Boulevards would increase with the new development. He asked if the proposed 6.4 units per acre could be altered, then he said that although the fire station is located within a half-block of the site, it is only manned by one or two persons.

Responding to Howard's comments, Chairman George Edsell said, "Access unquestionably would come up in the development plan, (as it is) of major interest to the commission."

"The number of units could be varied by subsequent request," he said.

Miller added, "The 6.4 unit per acre is a 'not-to-exceed' figure."

The fire department, Edsell said, "would also be taken care of at the development plan stage."

A motion to deny certification of the negative declaration was made by Commissioner Ellie McGuire and seconded by Commissioner Jim Brush. The vote was 4-2 against Mrs. McGuire's proposal.

A SECOND motion, for approval, was made by Pringle and seconded by Commissioner Ken Grobman, resulting in the 6-0 decision.

A negative declaration for construction of a warehousing complex between Palmetto Avenue and the Coast Highway was also approved by the commission, 6-0.

The Pacifica Planning Commission Monday continued a rezoning request to June 3, when it learned the applicant apparently had not obtained approval from the landowners involved.

Planning Administrator Jim Miller said the purpose of the request is to create five lots where three now exist on the north side of Talbot Ave.

The action would involve rezoning the rear portions of the lots facing on Talbot Ave. from a designation requiring a 20,000 square foot minimum lot size, to one requiring a 5,000 square foot minimum lot size, he said.

Miller indicated the revision of all three lots would create three lots fronting on Loma Vista Terrace and two lots fronting on Talbot Ave.

An objection was raised by one of the three owners. According to Deputy City Atty. Bill Galstan, without her permission, the site can not be rezoned.

Les Clark, director of community development, suggested the continuance, "until we can get back with the information."

He said zoning changes should not be placed on the commission's agenda before the people involved have been contacted.

"We must have goofs at the office," he said.

Applicant George LeBus explained he already owns two of the five tentatively divided lots, and has obtained oral permission from the third owner.

LeBus said the owner has agreed to sell the back half of his lot if the rezoning is approved.

According to Miller, this proposed project includes six buildings, parking, access drives and landscaping on a 2.64 acre parcel now occupied by Cevasco's plant nursery.

The report also noted that since the building would be used for storage only, air, water or noise pollution should not be significantly increased.

A report from the Department of Community Development indicated that although the project would generate some additional truck traffic on Palmetto Avenue and the access suitable for residential (development), and I would have to support the negative declaration."

A third negative declaration was approved unanimously by the commission, and a new use permit was issued to the Cozzolino Quarry at Sharp Park Road and Skyline College Campus Parkway.

According to Miller, this project consists of the removal of a stockpile of material left from a previous quarry operation on the 20.5 acre parcel.

A report from the Department of Community Development stated that no adverse effects would result from the removal of the material. It was suggested, however, that controls on noise, traffic and dust be included as part of the Quarry Use Permit.

MARCELINO ENRIQUEZ, president of the Filipino-American Association of Northern San Mateo County prepares for the association May Festival Dinner Dance May 25.

Filipino/American May Festival Set

Marcelino Enriquez, president of the Filipino-American Association of Northern San Mateo County, invites the public to its May Festival Dinner Dance May 25 at 7 p.m.

A mass celebrating the weekly block rosary sessions held at private homes during the month of May will precede the dance at 6:30 p.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, Wellington Avenue, Daly City.

The dance which will be held at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Hall, will feature a Filipino-American dinner, a short program of Philippine folk songs and dances by the Karilagan Dance Troupe of San Jose.

Live music will be provided by the Mabuhay Orchestra. Tickets are $4 each and may be obtained from Enriquez at 755-8840, at OLPH Rectory 755-9786, or from any member of the association.

On May 26, there will be a

"Santacruzan," May Day procession sponsored by the association which will start from Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church at 2 p.m.

Groups participating will be the Knights of Columbus Color Guard, Catholic Daughters of America, Court St. Mary No. 1155, Boy, Girl and Sea Scouts, several rondalla groups within the procession, a bevy of young queens and their consorts, and little angels escorting the Pilgrim Virgin of Fatima.

The public is invited to join in the procession which is a typical Philippine event held throughout the islands during the month of May.

The Filipino-American Association of Northern San Mateo County is also providing the program of folk songs and dances, display of native crafts and a travelogue film to celebrate Philippine Cultural Day in Daly City sponsored by the Friends of the Daly City Library.

Chafetz Prints at DC Arts Center

During the month of May the Art Center sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department will exhibit the prints of Sidney Chafetz.

Chafetz is professor of art at the Ohio State University. He studied at the Rhode Island Institute of Design, in Paris at the Academie Julian and with artists Fernand Leger and S. W. Hayter.

He was awarded a Tiffany Fellowship, a Fulbright Fellowship to Paris and research grants from the Ohio State University. He is regularly represented in Major Print Exhibitions including the Museum of Modern Art, the Brooklyn Museum, American Federation of Art, and Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

Chafetz has had one-man shows in Paris, New York and other United States cities and universities and has received numerous prizes including L'Ecole Des Beaux Arts, Fontainebleau and the Library of Congress. His work appears in public and private collections in the United States, Africa, Europe, South America and Japan.

Chafetz was the recipient of the major purchase and cash award at first Biennale De La Gravure Sur Bois, Banska Bystrica, Czechoslovakia in 1970. He was one of six artists chosen to represent the United States in the 2nd Triennale Internationale Della Xilografia Contemporanea at Capri, Italy in 1972.

Dr. Matthew Baigell, professor of art history at Rutgers writes: "Sidney Chafetz is intensely committed to the important problem of our time: improving the quality of higher education."

"Like many artists he is a teacher, but unlike most he has turned to the problem of his community."

Like the artists of the medieval woodcuts, Chafetz intersperses words and phrases with figures. Written in Latin, the traditional language of scholars, as well as in English, some are purposefully misspelled as if to bedevil the freshman instructor. But where the medieval artist railed against the devil and vanity, Chafetz attacks the achievement of mediocrity.

Though critical of the present intellectual order, Chaftez is not defeatist. In a complementary series of prints, begun at the same time as the satiric works, he glorifies the heroes of mankind's intellectual struggles. Through these works he projects his hopes for the future as well as his positive commitment to the present.

The exhibit will be on display through May 31 at the Art Center on 101 Peoria Street, Daly City.

During the month of May Gallery hours will be Monday, Wednesday, and Friday 1:00 - 4:00 p.m., as well as Monday and Wednesday evenings 7:00 - 10:00 p.m.

For details call 584-9862 or write Nina White, Arts and Crafts Specialist, Department of Recreation, 134 Hillside Blvd., Daly City, CA 94014.

Jim Lewis Stricken

James W. Lewis, a former Belmont Fire Protection District commissioner, was reported in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Kaiser Hospital in Redwood City Tuesday after a severe asthma attack Saturday.

Lewis, 44, was rushed from his home at 1800 Miller Ave. at about 5 a.m. Saturday. It was thought he may have had a heart attack also, but a hospital spokesman said there was no heart condition.

Lewis is a Belmont barber who served eight years on the Belmont fire district board but was defeated for re-election last November.

U.S. Funds For SM Center

San Mateo County has been selected as one of two counties in the state to receive federal funding to establish an education evaluation improvement center.

The County Board of Education agreed Wednesday to accept $214,000 in funding under the Elementary Secondary Education Act to finance the program.

Dr. Nelson Price, a planning associate in the County Schools Office, was named project director for the center, which will develop feasible evaluation designs or systems to assist in improving the quality of educational programs offered by local school districts.

The initial program will be completed by June 30, 1975, with continuation phases funded annually thereafter for purposes of modification, follow-up training and renewal.

Daly City Couple is Honored

May and Neils Plough of Daly City were recently awarded Honorary Life Members of the Washington P-TA.

Mary has been active in Brownies and has been Leader of Girl Scout Troop 494 for three years. She served as Washington P-TA vice president during 1970-71.

Neils has been active in scouting for some five years and was leader of Boy Scout Troop 10. Both are members of United Methodist Church of Burlingame, and Mary received an award for Outstanding Worker and Citizen.

Washington P-TA new officers will be installed at a luncheon on May 16 at the Burlingame Recreation Center.

DC Health Fair Tests

The Health Fair held at the Guadalupe Health Center, April 30, encouraged broad community interest in personal health - more than 400 health examination tests were given by the center and cooperating organizations.

An analysis based on examination check-lists which were collected showed that 91 per cent of all persons attending took two or more tests. According to this sample, the test for hypertension was taken by more visitors than any other test; and, dental screening was given to over 50 per cent of those persons who elected to have one or more tests.

Among the tests offered at the Health Fair were those for diabetes, T.B. and for hearing and vision.
